BBG – I
Specifications for Semester Project-Version 2

Submission

- Projects submitted lately will not be accepted. "NO EXCEPTION"

- Project must be GIVEN as HARDCOPY on 06/01/2016 at 13:00. You should bring your document to the lab where the presentations will take place.

- Projects that don't comply with submission rules will NOT be evaluated. "NO EXCEPTION"

Content

- An abstract, which is describing the nature of the project, the scope of the solution, the modules that have been developed should be written with less than 200 words.

- You should write a full description of the capabilities of the project, strengths and limitations of the solution developed. For example : What the program can handle for input and output? How the program could be improved? What features of the Pascal programming language were employed, particularly those relevant to the course (arrays, nested loops, etc.)?

- You should add some screenshots which will help us to understand what you implemented.

- Do not forget to mention the references: What sources did you refer to?

- Observing the above mentioned rules, Clearness, and Readability are the key issues for EVALUATION of this project.

- You should submit a document which contains

  - Source code(s) including necessary comments.
  - Report according to the above mentioned criteria.